

Dear Friends of Cardinal Hill,

I am honored to have been named President/CEO of Cardinal Hill Rehabilitation Hospital. As we begin the next chapter in Cardinal Hill's history, it is humbling to revisit our legacy, for it is that very legacy that defines us and provides the foundation for our future – to remain a national leader in physical rehabilitation. Simply put, we are a place of hope for thousands of children and adults with a disabling condition.

Not so very long ago I came through the doors at Cardinal Hill for my first visit and by the time I left that day, I knew that I wanted to be part of the Cardinal Hill family. The fact that the small 50-bed Convalescent Home for children with polio has evolved into Kentucky's largest provider of physical rehabilitation services is a testament to the dedication of the staff, volunteers and the community.

Our new facility and additional capacity is a testament to our long history of changing and expanding to meet the ever changing health care needs of all those we serve. Those needs will continue to change and grow and we are committed to continue to provide our patients with the best possible care in the best possible facility, by the best possible staff. That's why we are here.

Each time a patient or family member shares the story of their experience at Cardinal Hill, I am reminded what a privilege it is to be part of the Cardinal Hill family.
